THE WORLD OF

OISEAU REDEEMS HIMSELF

WINS OVER MUDDY TRACK.

Takes Swift Stakes in Fast Time-Blandy's Great Race.

James B. Brady's colt Oiseau, which went into winter quarters last fall, sharing the two-yearold championship honors with Artful, Tradition and Sysonby, in part redeemed himself yesterday for his disappointing performance in the Broadway Stakes, when he was sent to the post an odds-on favorite and finished a dismal last.

As an added starter yesterday he won the renewal of the Swift Stakes at seven furlongs on the Futurity course, with what appeared to be considerable ease, and in fast time considering the heavy track. Although the majority considered that his victory was achieved in a little more than a stiff gallop, there were many shrewd turfmen who contended that Oiseau was extended to his utmost capacity and that he was as straight as a string at the finish. The conditions of the Swift are such that Oiseau, with 111 pounds, was in receipt of actual weight from three of his company and met the other two on even terms. As the lot he led to the wire included Pasadena, 119 pounds; Prince Hamburg, 116; Cederstrome, 116; Sparkling Star, 111, and Dandelion, 111 pounds, his performance cannot be looked on as anything extraordinary. None of these three-year-olds has ever done anything to entitle him to be ranked with really high class performers, and until Oiseau conquers a more distinguished lot the public will still hesitate about inclosing him in the same class with Sysonby, Tanya or Tradition.

O'Neil had the mount on the son of Ornus, and it may be that he was showing one of his artistic cold blooded finishes and that he had more up his sleeve than was apparent. If this was the case, it was a masterly exhibition on the part of this clever jockey, and one that fooled many a spectator

In the speculation Oiseau was an almost prohibitive favorite, and the small players had to look in vain for something to beat him. Many chose Dandelion and Sparkling Star, and the former closed at 3 to 1 to win, while the latter was backed from twelves to tens.

Oiseau made all the running, and was a length in front of Pasadena at the end. Dandellon was the runner-up a head in front of Sparkling Star and only a head behind Pasadena. The struggle for place honors was the thrilling part of the race, although there was excitement enough when it was seen at the turn into the straight that O'Neil was hand riding Oiseau to shake off Prince Hamburg. The latter was bumped out of his stride and ceased to be a factor. Pasadena closed with a great rush and took the place from arkling Star, which also gave way to Dande-

"Little Old Blandy"—called so more from the genuine affection he is held in by the public than from the number of his inches—ran one of the most extraordinary races that has been seen in the East this year. With 112 pounds up, he was one of six starters in a handicap at one mile. He was so far out of it when half one mile. He was so far out of it when half the trip through the backstretch had been made that he had been forgotten as a possible factor. Blandy never forgot it, however, and when he got into his stride he settled down to business with a dogged persistence that, by the business with a dogged persistence that, by the time the seventh-eighths was reached had put him in a contender's position. In a few more strides he was a head behind Leonidas and Wotan, and from that point to the wire they fought it out desperately. Blandy just succeeded in getting his nose in front of Leonidas's in the last jump. Wotan was a head behind Leonidas. Security and High Chance, which, coupled in the betting in Mr. Smathers's name, were the warmest good things of the day, were both beaten by Gallavant and Vagabond, the latter an added starter, in the renewal of the Zephyr Stakes for two-year-olds over the last five and one-half furiongs of the Futurity course. The pair closed at 5 to 4 on, while the price against the winner was 4 to 1. Security had speed, and the winner was 4 to 1. Security had speed, and might have been closer up had he not swerved badly. The form players succeeded in landing three favorites, but as two of these were at edds-on, the day was not an especially fortunate one for them.

PADDOCK PARAGRAPHS.

James W. Colt has bought from Mrs. James Blute the aged bay horse Nitrate, by Tea Tray-Vineveh, and will add him to his stable of steeple thasers. Nitrate was named to start yesterday, but was withdrawn. He has only run one race in he East this year, and this was when he ran third o Gold Van and Sandhurst.

As the racing crowd passed the home of Jim-nie Mara last night it heard the old question it he shining lights in the ranks of the steeplechase ocks, "Did Pop win to-day?"

"Who's your Pop?" "Jimmie Mara." "Well, Jimmie won." "Course he did; our Pop always wins." Jimmie's triumph, it may be said, was greeted with aimest as much enthusiasm on the rack as by his brood of youngsters, and he was iailed with cheers of hearty good will when he brought Arian back to the scales. It is the first winner he has ridden since he announced his retirement last fall.

It cost Frank Farrell $3,105 to keep his gelding Keator, which won the first race yesterday. He was bid up to $3,100 before the man who wanted him woul? Quit. Pretension was claimed out of the same race by H. R. Schaffer for $2,400.

R. T. Wilson, fr., won the Zephyr Stakes yester lay for the second year in succession. Last year Jamara brought his colors home in front.

NO RACING TRUST PROPOSED.

August Belmont and Associates Acquiring Stock as an Investment.

The statement was made yesterday that August Belmont and his associates have purchased a controlling interest in the Jamaica, Aqueduct, Brook lyn, Saratoga and Brighton Beach racing associations, and that a giant merger of these properties would be effected later. Mr. Belment new owns a controlling interest in Belmont Park, Kenilworth and Bennings. If he secured the properties mentioned it would place him in control of all the rac-ing plants in the East, with the exception of the Sheepshcad Bay track, which is controlled largely by William K. Vanderbilt.

This story was denied with certain reservations last night. It was admitted that Mr. Belmont and his friends have recently acquired additional hold-ings in the tracks mentioned, but that it was with ings in the tracks mentioned, but that it was with no idea of a merger or the formation of a racing trust. It was said that stock in these associations are regarded as good investments in the first place, and, in thesecond place, the establishment of a sort of community of interest among the racetracks would do away with friction and antagonism that might be engendered by independent rivairy.

GOVERNOR HIGGINS STILL IN DOUBT.

Has Not Decided on Make-Up of State Racing Commission.

[BY THLEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.] Albany, June 20.—Governor Higgins said to-night that despite the rumors that he had decided not to reappoint August Belmont as State Racing Com-missioner, he had not yet reached any conclusion in the matter.

CREWS HARD AT WORK.

COLUMBIA FOUR CHANGES.

What the Various Eights Did at Poughkeepsie Yesterday.

[BI TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.] Poughkeepsle, N. Y., June 20.-Goodwin, coach of the Columbia crews, made a looked-for shake-up in his 'varsity four to-day, when Ferris was removed from the second 'varsity eight to stroke in the four. Von Bermuth, who has been occupying the pacemaker's seat in the four, was relegated to the second 'varsity. The main reason for this change is thought to be that Von Bermuth, who has been afraid to row too hard in the hot sun in the morning because of an attack of sunstroke some years ago, has ad listened to ever since Jimmie became one of retarded the early work of the four. Ferris, he shining lights in the ranks of the steeplechase who succeeds him, rowed last year in the 'varsity eight. He weighs nearly two hundred pounds, which is considered much too heavy for an carsman. Under present conditions the stern pair in the four far outweigh the bow pair, Ferris being 196 pounds and Mackenzie, No. 3, 168 pounds, while Updike, No. 2, weighs 153 pounds and Norris, bow, 150 pounds. The varsity eight took a row of nine miles in easy In the afternoon the new four got a time trial, as did the two eights. The eights went away up the river on the upper course and came down, the 'varsity being paced for two miles by the freshmen. The crews rowed along the east shore with the tide favoring, but with the east shore with the tide favoring, but with the wind breaking against them, wherever the hills did not shut it off. No time was announced. Syracuse, the intercollegiate champions, took their first river work to-day. The three crews rowed about four miles in the morning. Both Courtney and Ward had a look at the crews. The Sait City oarsmen seem to have changed their style of last year to some extent. The rushing of the slides, the extreme reach forward and the other peculiarities of watermanship are missing. They still row a high stroke, but most persons who have seen them think that they are likely in the excitement of a race to revert to the principles they were taught last year, and the result will be a mix-up which will be fatal. In the afternoon the Syracuse men be fatal. In the afternoon the Syracuse men rowed down and back from their boathouse, a total distance of five miles. Armstrong, bow, of the four, and Anderson, of the 'varsity eight, are under the weather with dysentery.

Ellis Ward had another race between his two 'varsity fours in the morning, Marshall's boat again winning. The 'varsity and freshmen eights raced two miles, and the freshmen won eights raced two miles, and the freshmen won by a length. In the afternoon Ward decided to pick his 'varsity four. The candidates for each position were "tabbed" in pairs, and the man who succeeded in rowing his opponent round got the place. There was only one change made. Watkins got Lavery's place at No. 3. The or-der of the four is: Bogardus, how; Kelley, 2; Watkins, 3; Marshall, stroke. The 'varsity got a time trial along the east shore for four miles in choppy water. Courtney took the Cornellians out for a long row this morning, going about for a long row this morning, going about four miles down and back. In the afternoon he took them over to the east shore, passing the Syracuse boathouse, where they were cheered by Ten Eyck's men. Coming up the Cornellians passed the Syracuse fleet on the water and Courtney studied them intently. The 'varsity eight rowed smoothly, but the freshmen, although better in style than ment other college hours, were not in style than most other college boats, were not up to the Cornell standard.

It is a snappy, fighting crew, however. Courtney has instituted a new training stunt. His men are drinking grape juice twice a day in-stead of water, and it is hoped thus to avoid the sickness that has been affecting Cornell crews in the past years, owing to the water. Courtney said of the Columbia crews to-day:

Goodwin's men are rowing smoother than any Columbia crew since 1901. They are a formid-able lot and the wise ones should watch them. Georgetown, which was expected here to-morrow, will not arrive until Thursday. Wis-consin will get in on the same day. The sta-tistics of the Georgetown crew were announced yesterday as follows:

HARVARD TIME TRIAL SPOILED.

Wash of a Tug Cuts It Short-Work of the Eight Not Encouraging.

Harvard Crew Quarters, Red Top, Conn., June 20.—The Harvard earsmen seem to be in a run of hard luck lately, having had two time rows spoiled by Ritson, 2. Time of game, 2:15. Umpire—Connelly, Attendance, 1,500. by tugs which were steaming up the river. The first time was last week and the second was this afternoon, when they were forced to stop rowing at the three and a half mile flag by the wash of a large ocean tug.

The crew paddled over to the starting flag about four o'clock. There was a fair wind and tide, and it was expected that the men would cover the distance under twenty-one minutes. They started with a paddling start, and at an even stroke of about twenty-eight to the minute went over the first half mile in 2:47. Captain Filley did not raise the stroke at all, but kept rowing in the same even swing. The time for the first two miles was 10:59, and that for the whole three and a half miles which they rowed was 19:12. This was rather slow under the conditions, and may be attributed to the fact that the men have not been feeling quite up to par, on account of the cold weather. The bout seemed to be more unsteady to-day than it has been for some time, and, as a result, the time was ranged. The same old fault of the bowmen catching ahead of stroke was in evidence. Taking the average time which the crew made for the different half miles and adding it to 19 minutes 12 seconds for the three and a half miles, it brings the time to 11:25 for the whole distance, which is undeniably bad, in spite of the fact that a low stroke was used the whole way.

The varsity four-oared crew was given an unusually hard row, going four miles down to the railroad bridge and back. The first two miles were gone over on time, the distance being covered in 11:40, which was fair, as there was no tide and only a light favoring wind. The boat seemed to be very unsteady and the men splashed a good deal. Gill was back in his old place at No. 3, but it is not yet certain whether he or Shepard will hold down this position.

The freshmen had only light work both in the morning and in the afternoon, as they are now in the pest of condition and the coaches do not want to get the men overtrained.

When it was learned that President Roosevelt would pass through Red Top on his way to Worcester a telegram was sent to him, inviting him to stop off at the Harvard crew quarters and take breakfast with the crew. The President is an old Harvard graduate, and has always been enthusiastic about college sports, and will probably stop off if it is in his power to do so.

against the watch this evening, but the coaches declined to give out the time, confining themselves declined to give out the time, confining themselves to the statement that the boat was not as fast as last year's Yale crew was at this stage of the training.

The freshmen eight paced the 'varsity for the first two mires, and stopped at the navy yard only six or eight feet in the rear of the other boat. The younger carsmen, however, spuried near the end of the two miles, while the 'varsity men, saving their power for the longer distance, rowed a steady stroke.

The 'varsity four-oar had their regular practice his afternoon. On account of the disagreeable weather and college examinations none of the crews had any morning work.

Captum Whittler, of the Yale navy, sent a telegram to President Rossevelt to-night extending the courtesies of the Yale quarters during his stay at Sale's Ferry.

TIME OF YALE-HARVARD RACE.

Boston, June 20 .- Charles A. Schweppe, chairman of the regatta committee of the Harvard-Yale eight-oared shell race, which will be held at Newleight-oared shell race, which will be held at New-London, Conn., on June 29, announced to-day that the 'varsity race would be rowed up the Thames River from New-London to Gales Ferry at 4.20 p. m., and not at 6 p. m., as had been previously stated. Official announcement also was made that the four-oared race would be started at 19.20 p. m. at Gales Ferry and rowed downstream two miles to the navy yard, and that the freshman race would be started immediately afterward at the navy yard, finishing at the bridge at New-London.

In a pitcher's battle at American League Park vesterday the Highlanders again lost to Detroit in a ten-inning game by a score of 5 to 3. Orth and Kitson were the opposing pitchers, and in the final inning Orth weakened and the visitors scored three runs. The fielding of Williams was one of the features of the game. He took every chance that came his way, and succeeded in making three elever assists, and also put out three men.

The Highlanders took the lead in the second inning, making two runs. Williams, first up, sent out a single to right field, took second on Chase's sacrifice, third on Yeager's single, and scored on Fultz's bunt. Kleinow hit to O'Leary, forcing Fultz at second, but in trying for a double play O'Leary threw low to first and Yeager tailled. The visitors tied the score in the fourth inning, getting two men across the place. Coughlin, first up, got his base on balls, and Schaefer bunted Lowe also bunted safely, and the bases safely. Lowe also bunted safely, and the bases were full. Then Drili sent out a timely two-basger and Coughlin and Schaefer crossed the plate. The next three batters went out in order.

In the tenth inning, with Cooley out, Hickman began the winning raily by sending out a triple to right field. Crawford walked, and on Hickman's single Coughlin scored. Schaefer flied to Williams. Yeager fumbled Lowe's low drive, and Crawford crossed the plate, and Schaefer got to third on the error. Drill singled to centre field, and Coughlin raced home. Kitson was third to go out on a fly. out on a fly.

The Highlanders made a brave effort to turn defeat into victory, but one run was all they could get on Keeler's single and Williams's three-bagger.

Cincinnati, June 20 .- The Giants outplayed Cincinnati in all departments of to-day's game, and won easily by a score of 8 to 3. Harper, who started in to pitch for the home team, was knocked out of the box, and Check, who took his place, showed little improvement. Ames pitched a good game for the visitors, and fielded his position, making two clever assists. He also made two safe hits. This was quite a feat for him, as he is considered one of the weakest bat-"Dummy" Taylor, who was on the coaching line, got himself in trouble in the seventh inning, when he told the umpire in pantomime that he had "wheels." O'Day promptly ordered him of the field.

Bowerman mack one of the longest hits of the season in the last inning, a home run drive to deep centre. The Giants began well by making three runs in the first inning, and thereafter the game was never in doubt. The score follows:

Ball Match at Baltusrol.

match between Murray Olyphant and John Hobens, of Englewood, against F. O. Reinhart and George Low, of Baltusrol, was practically decided on Monday during the first half of the match, played at Erglewood, when, through the phenomenal work of Hobens, the Englewood pair finished in the lead by 9 up. Although the second half of the match was played at Baltusrol yesterday, the lead was too great for Reinhart and Low to over-come, especially as the visitors played quite as well over the Baltusrol course as did the home players.

no easy matter for Reinhart and Low to have won, as they were all even going out, and by coming home in par golf of 27, they were only 2 up on the morning round, which was promptly At the turn honors were still even, but on the
